“My mission is to use my battle-tested experience to help others lead lives of impact, service and health”

Dr. Bose is a world-leading emergency medicine physician, combat veteran, professor, and entrepreneur. From his experience in the ER and on the battlefield, he is skilled in staying grounded in the face of overwhelm and is ready to tackle any challenge with skill and agility. His focus is on large-scale health and education impacts to improve personal, public, and veteran health.

PHYSICIAN

Dr. Bose is one of America’s most experienced doctors in emergency medicine, mass casualty and disaster response, and post-traumatic stress disorder. As a double-board-certified emergency physician, his day to day includes treating critically ill patients from newborn to end-of-life including gunshot wounds, COVID, and heart attacks. Dr. Bose serves as city emergency medical services (EMS) medical director in West Texas overseeing 19 counties encompassing over 38,000 square miles, the largest geographic coverage by any hospital system in the United States (roughly the size of the state of Maine). In this role, he orchestrates the city emergency response for ambulances, firefighters, and SWAT during mass shootings, pandemics, and mass casualty incidents. He is driven to stay at the forefront of his specialty, achieving advanced certification from the Department of Homeland Security in federal, state, and local disaster response protocol. As a national disaster expert, Dr. Bose presented at the 2019 United Nations General Assembly on emergency medical services and disaster care. Dr. Bose has logged more than 1,000 media appearances as a health correspondent, including features on CNN, MSNBC, CBS News, FOX, Time magazine, and more.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Selected by the International Association of Healthcare Professionals to represent emergency medicine in “The Leading Physicians of the World”
- Recognized by the American College of Emergency Physicians as one of “America’s Health Care Leaders” and Heroes of Emergency Medicine of the past 40 years
- Co-hosted the weekly CBS “Your Eye on Health” segment, which discussed medical and personal health issues
- Featured physician on hit worldwide reality TV show “Untold Stories of the ER”
- As the son of immigrants and the descendant of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose, an Indian freedom fighter who joined Mahatma Gandhi in that effort, Dr. Bose believes in fighting for the American Dream and protecting our most valuable asset: OUR HEALTH

VETERAN

A former major in the U.S. Army, Dr. Bose is a proud Iraq war veteran with 12 years of service. During Operation Iraqi Freedom, Dr. Bose provided front-line emergency medical care on the streets to thousands of wounded soldiers and Iraqi civilians during the peak of insurgencies in Baghdad, Najaf, and Fallujah. In these circumstances, Dr. Bose refined his ability to motivate teams and manage crises. Because he often lacked traditional resources and time, he also learned to quickly develop creative solutions to challenges. Dr. Bose is passionate about veteran advocacy and is the founder of The Battle Continues, a nonprofit charity advocating for the health needs of veterans; 100% of donations go directly to injured veterans.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Handpicked by US forces to treat Saddam Hussein after his capture
- Awarded the Bronze Star for serving in an infantry unit treating war casualties on the streets of Iraq as one of the longest combat tours by a physician since World War II
- Combat Medical Badge recipient: participated in combat operations under direct enemy hostile fire
- Received Presidential Recognition and featured as a "CNN Hero" for service under extraordinary circumstances

FOUNDER AND CEO

At the local level, Dr. Bose improved access to emergency care in his community by starting and co-owning several freestanding emergency rooms to provide patients with an efficient and effective alternative to spending sometimes hours at the hospital ER while awaiting treatment. At the national level, Dr. Bose is the founder & CEO of several nationally top-ranked medical and education technology companies focused on increasing healthcare knowledge and agency improvement. Dr. Bose was involved in all aspects of developing and executing the business model and marketing plan for each company, giving him practical business skills. His companies reached profitability in the first year, and participant examination scores and patient health improved. He pivoted his companies to adapt to changing requirements to retain market leader status for over 15 years. He serves as a strategic advisor to Venture Capital, Private Equity, and Fortune 500 companies.
